Get Hold of Many Stills in Oliver and Morton Counties; Issue Warrants

An old church in Bismarck was the home of a whiskey still, according to Lane Maloney, North Dakota group chief of the federal prohibition forces. Maloney today completed the rounding up of a number of alleged violators of the prohibition laws. The following persons, he says, will be arrested on federal warrants:

William Grossman, Bismarck, who he said, lived in an old, abandoned church on Sixth street. Six gallons of colored moonshine was found, he said.

John Doe and Mike Fickler, corner of Sixteenth and Bowen streets, where he said, there were 50 gallons of grain mash, and one still. The three are to be charged jointly with manufacturing liquor.

Harry Smith, 316 Thirteenth street north, where, he said, a considerable quantity of moonshine and home brew beer was found.

In Morton and Oliver counties, he said, the party first visited the home of Martin Kupper, near Harmon, where two complete stills, one set up, were found.

Put Up a Fight

Louis Demieus, near Yucca, where one still and a considerable quantity of home made wine was found. Mrs. Demieus, according to the group chief, put up quite a battle and broke a couple of chairs over him. No serious injury was done, however.

Martin Winchell, near Yucca, where two complete stills and a quantity of mash and moonshine was found. Winchell, Malone declared, manufactured stills for a number of persons in that vicinity.

Kept Presence Secret

Christ Koch, near Yucca, who, the group chief said, had a ten-gallon copper still.

George Koch, near Yucca, complete five-gallon still.

All of the searches were conducted under federal search warrants. Malone said. Malone being assisted by other officers.

Eight stills in all were seized. The raids were made in the last few days, the presence of the federal officer being kept secret until the work was finished.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—Captains of every police precinct in the city were summoned to appear before the chief of police to receive instructions that they must discover and report 500 loafers in the police department. Chief Fitzsimmons has announced that his three months in office has shown him that out of 5,500 men on the force that we have 500 who will not work.

"They don't wish me to succeed in carrying out the mayor's orders to clean up Chicago and I am not going to let them ride along and get the credit for the great record the other 4,600 are making."

Detectives Watch Black Box
With Money But Passerby
Picks It Up

Philadelphia, Feb. 12.—Detectives inadvertently early today spoiled the venture of a man who attempted to extort money from Mr. Stokesburg, a well-known banker, on a threat to harm him and his family.

A letter had been sent instructing him to place a sum of money in a black box. Detectives carried out the instructions and hid in a dark corner.

When a man came along and picked up the box he was arrested. He claimed he was on his way to work when he found the box. The police found that was true and released him. The senders of the extortion note have not been found.

GUARD AGAINST RASH ACTION

When political factions get into bitter contention, there is often liable to be developed acute cases of extreme partisanship. Both sides see red most of the time and bitter reprisals are the order.

The Tribune has been invited repeatedly to do some of the raving and frothing, but it believes that greater progress can be made by a cool consideration of the issues.

It is the contention of The Tribune that the House investigation committee was organized to get all data possible for the guidance of the legislature in passing remedial legislation. Unfortunately a deadlock exists and all that can be done is to propose a plan and seek to bring the contending factions together on some sort of common ground. Failing in that it is more than likely that the issues will have to be put up to the people.

Several days were wasted this week in examining a political firebrand whose charges of embezzlement have not yet found their way to the office of the states attorney, nor produced any active demand for a grand jury investigation. If any criminal act has been done in the handling of the state's business, it is the duty of the proper officials to prosecute.

To date, however, there is merely the unsupported testimony of a disgruntled political henchman which has had extensive publicity doubtless for purely partisan purposes. None of the officials entrusted with law enforcement in Bismarck or the state seemingly has placed any confidence in the charges or the informant. Certainly not enough credence has been manifested to produce the usual steps to bring alleged violators to the bar of justice.

In surveying the field of politicians certain personalities have come to the public notice who recently were actively engaged in spreading the propaganda of the nonpartisan league. The Tribune is keenly sensitive to the fact that some of the individuals now howling most lustily for revenge, were a short time ago hand in glove with the enemy. They negotiated post-dated checks, gave sympathetic aid to the industrial program, even tried to float industrial bonds and gave a mild endorsement of the Bank of North Dakota.

The voters of the state who are honestly seeking a way out of the present crisis, better examine some of the latest recruits in the ranks of the Independents. Put a few vital questions first:

Are they seeking to build their political fortunes upon the ruins of the old machine;

Will it be a case of going from the grip of one political clique into the bosom of another as selfish and self seeking?

Why have these new converts broken with Townley and herald their recantation by brass band and grand stand tactics?

What vested interests do they represent and why this sudden access of virtuous solicitation over the welfare of a state they have had as much to do with exploiting as anyone?

Voters will do well to pierce the garb of hypocrisy that clothes some of the men who are anxiously concerned about the political future. Let us get down to bedrock before adopting any policy that might deliver the state out of the hands of one political machine into those of another. Let us guard against such a catastrophe that would give us a distinction without a difference.

The Tribune has always and is now opposed to the entire industrial program. It does not believe that it is a proper function of state government to engage in any business enterprise because such a program almost without exception is a waste of public funds.

When the Independents proposed a compromise and accepted the present industrial program with limitations, The Tribune opposed such a compromise and has never seen any good reason to change its attitude.

The Tribune has always felt that the state industries were doomed to failure regardless of the fact that many honest farmers and businessmen, leaguers and independents alike believe that it is proper for the state government to enter the industrial field. North Dakota's experience has been that of nearly every state or nation that has attempted to establish industrial activity as a fixed governmental function.

In the endeavor to seek a solution for North Dakota's economic problems there are three distinct groups. One is absolutely against the entire industrial program because they feel it is economically unsound and not a proper field for governmental activity. Another which believes as a political expedient that the system should be carried out in a small way a necessary investment to convince others that the system is wrong. The third group is made up of those who honestly believe it is the function of the state to enter actively and extensively into various industrial projects.

The Tribune has no quarrel with any of the groups. It holds with those men and women who believe to compromise on the issue is wrong—that none of the industrial program has any part or place in our governmental scheme. American ideals, as we see them, oppose such an invasion of governmental activity. The same ends can be accomplished much better through the operation of the proposed Farm Bureau, cooperative societies and organizations of farmers to correct the abuses in distribution of farm products which gave rise to the present industrial program.

Moreover, The Tribune believes it unwise policy to impugn the motives of every leaguer who believes in the industrial program. Many of them are honest God fearing farmers and have the interest of the state at heart. They believe that this program means ultimately their economic redemption and they will fight for its retention until the fallacy is completely revealed. Many of them now are displeased with the way some features of the industrial program have been handled, but it is going to take time to convince them all that a continuance of the industrial scheme will only increase the tax load, destroy competition and finally break down private initiative.

This is the condition that the state faces intensified by a political deadlock that must end sooner or later if governmental equilibrium is to be restored. While putting our house in order, there should be careful action, a spirit of fairness and an Fargo, Feb. 12.—A move for political peace and co-operation between all factions and interests in the state were initiated in letters sent to various cities of the state by the local Commercial club, suggesting a series of meetings to which the Nonpartisan league, all kinds of commercial organizations and all former organizations shall be invited.

It is suggested that first meeting be held in Fargo, Feb. 22.

Meetings Non-Political.—It's purpose, it is said, would be to talk over the situation and plan for the future. It is to be non-political. The aim of the meeting will be to let the people that attend get the other fellow's point of view.

It is planned that after the Fargo meeting representatives will go out over the state and hold meetings.

Meeting at Mandan.—Bismarck is, purposely, barred from tentative list of meeting places because of it being a political center.

Among the meetings planned are gatherings at Grand Forks, Feb. 23, Devils Lake, Feb. 24, Dickinson, March 1 and Mandan, March 4.

Chicago Banker Heads President-Elect's Appointment

St. Augustine, Feb. 12.—Charles Dawes, Chicago banker, who has been prominently under consideration for appointment for secretary of the treasury headed President-elect Harding's appointment list today, beginning a new conference concerning cabinet appointments.

Mystery Man

Dawes was considered early to have first call on the portfolio. Since then his position has weakened and he is now one of the mystery men. He said his call was not a result of a formal appointment made at President Harding's request, but his coming has strengthened the belief that he is being considered for some cabinet position.

Came From Washington.—He came directly from Washington, where he created a sensation by condemning the Republican majority of the house for its conduct in investigating the war.

Regarding his attitude in that matter, Harding and those close to him have had nothing to do.

Lieutenant Pearson Has Not Been Heard From Since
Thursday

El Paso, Feb. 12.—Army planes were to leave Fort Bliss at dawn today to search for Lieutenant Pearson, who has been missing since he left here Thursday at 10 A. M.

Wireless and telephone messages have been sent to all stations and post offices along the route from El Paso to Houston, a distance of 800 miles. It is an attempt to locate the missing pilot. A new crank shaft was fitted in Pearson's machine at Columbus on Tuesday. Officers fear that the bearing might have got hot and caused a landing in some remote place.

Officers are of the opinion that he has landed unhurt in most remote part.

San Antonio, Texas, Feb. 12.—The postmaster at Sara Gosh, reported that an airplane passed over that town on noon Thursday, headed east. The route he would have chosen had he been flying a compass route.

I. V. A. CONVENTION DEMANDS
INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION RESIGN

Resolution Says Unless Body Does or Finds "a Way Out" for State Recall Is Necessary—Action Left to Executive Committee; Advertising Campaign Is Condemned

The Independent Voters' Association, in convention here today, adopted a resolution stating that "unless the present members of the Industrial Commission resign or else find ways and means to 'thaw' out the 'frozen' tax funds and cure the results of four years of wastefulness and mismanagement, a recall is absolutely necessary for the rehabilitation of the state's credit and restoration of public confidence in our state government."

The question of actually instituting a recall is left to the members of the executive committee of the organization which, it was said, would hold the matter under consideration.

Among the other resolutions adopted by the convention were:

Inviting every man and woman in the state to join the organization in its fight upon the present administration.

Condemning the series of advertisements being published in Independent and Nonpartisan newspapers by the Industrial Commission, as using state funds for political propaganda.

Paying tribute to the members of the state constitution and extending congratulations to the members of the 1917 session of the legislature for "a valiant fight in defense of our state constitution."

Commending the stand taken by Independent members of the present legislative assembly.

A motion urging that the audit report of state industries made by Bishop, Brissman and company be made available to all public officials in the state for reference, together with the admission of F. W. Catlow that it is substantially correct.

The convention's business meetings ended at noon. This afternoon a public meeting was being held in the auditorium in commemoration of Lincoln's birthday. Tonight a banquet will be held at the Grand Pacific hotel at 7:30 p. m. "In honor of the makers and defenders of our constitution." The recall resolution follows:

"WHEREAS, the state's credit has been injured by the wasteful, selfish and inefficient management of our state government during the past four years, especially by the unscrupulous and partisan use of the public tax money placed on deposit with the Bank of North Dakota; and

"WHEREAS, the vast agricultural interests of our state and undeveloped state need immediate financial relief, both for operation of present farming investments, and for further development of agricultural, industrial and commercial interests;

"BE IT RESOLVED, that it is the sense of this convention that unless the present members of the Industrial Commission resign or else find ways and means to 'thaw' out the 'frozen' tax funds and cure the results of four years of wastefulness and mismanagement, a recall is absolutely necessary for the rehabilitation of the state's credit and restoration of public confidence in our state government."

In the event it is deemed advisable to initiate a recall of state officials and members of the legislative assembly, we recommend the following procedure for the purpose of selecting candidates to take the places of those who are recalled:

Candidates for state office to be nominated in a state convention to be composed of delegates representing the various legislative districts in the state, on the basis of one delegate for the State Board of Auditors for the every six hundred votes or major fraction cast for the initiated law creating examination of public industries. The delegates from the various legislative districts to be selected in a district convention to be composed of delegates to the district convention from the various precincts within the district. Delegates to be selected on the basis of one delegate for every one hundred votes or major fraction cast for the Board of Auditors law in the respective precincts in the general election in November, 1920, provided that each precinct shall be entitled to at least one delegate, and that the executive committee be instructed to arrange for the calling of such district conventions and state convention at such time and in such place and upon

REP. ROOT CHALLENGES BAUER, WHO SAYS HE'S BEST SHOT, FOR BIG MATCH WITH DINNER AS THE BIG STAKE

The big contest is on—It will take place next week, the time, hour and perhaps the admission price to be announced later. Rep. J. D. Root will meet Rep. J. H. Bauer for the championship of the house of representatives with a rifle.

Rep. Bauer, the champion, he says, is declared when the fish and game committee made a trip to the woods near Bismarck that it didn't make any difference to Rep. Root whether there was an open or closed season—he couldn't hit anything any way.

Rep. Root approached the alleged champion.

Root: "They tell me you claim to be the champion shot of this house."

Bauer: "House nothing the state of North Dakota."

Root: "Well, I'll just challenge you to a shooting match."

Bauer: "Hold on now what'll we shoot with?"

Root: "Well shoot 25 clay pigeons that is, I'll shoot em and you'll try."

Bauer: "I don't know, I'm pretty busy."

Root: "You claim to be champion, don't you?"

The house and senate committees investigating the state industries both will resume public hearings on Monday.

The house committee suspended all operations today. The senate committee held a meeting in the Bank of North Dakota building, going over the report of the Equitable Auditing company on the Drake mill with accountants.

Attorney General William Lamke may be called before the senate committee Monday afternoon, senators said. F. W. Catlow also is expected to appear before that committee. The house committee will pursue its present course of delving into the worth of collateral held in the Bank of North Dakota, it is understood.

Pays Some Members.—Many state employees today were worrying as to whether they would be able to cash their salary checks.

Some of the legislators, who were paid yesterday, also were scurrying around to get cash. John Steen, state treasurer, paid out about $5,000 to members of the legislature, this being all of the cash he had on hand.

Several local business houses held large amount checks amounting to a considerable sum of money, which they were intending to present to the Bank of North Dakota for payment. The pay roll of the house and senate members amounted to over $10,000, and the employees were anxious to receive several thousand dollars more.

Under the resolution of the Industrial Commission such checks will be registered if the bank is unable to pay. One member said that two legislators had got back checks received for their first forty days pay from their banks, saying the checks had been presented for collection and turned down.

O'Dell in East

A dispatch from Cleveland, Ohio, by the Associated Press, said that Spurgeon O'Dell, representing the Bank of North Dakota, had appeared before the All-American Co-operative congress, representing farm and labor organizations of the country, appealing to them to give "the moral and financial support of the labor and farmers' organizations of the country to the Nonpartisan league's program for the sale of bonds of the state of North Dakota for the development of rural credit loans, the purchase of mills and elevators and home building."

Germany Will Refuse to Be Dictated to, Says Finance Minister Wirtz

Berlin, Feb. 12.—Germany is not going to the London reparations conference to be dictated to, Dr. Wirtz, minister of finance, declared to the Bremer Chamber of Commerce today.

"Great economic questions should not be served in that way," he said. "We are prepared to accomplish all we can, because we feel a moral duty to assist in reconstruction work and we will make a proposal of our own. Our offer will not be a small one. America can not hold aloof," he added. "When the economic forces of the entire world shall assemble around a plan can be decided upon but this cannot happen unless the entire world is prepared to co-operate."

Chicago, Feb. 12.—The National Wheat Growers association today decided to adopt a co-operative plan of selling in an effort to save approximately 15 cents a bushel.

This action was taken at a meeting of the executive board of the executive board of the association. The growers plan to establish receiving stations in each state where the farmers may send their wheat and from these elevators the wheat may be sold directly to the millers.

Stations for receiving wheat also established at big seaports.

authorizing the secretary of the treasury to purchase $100,000,000 of federal the controversy before the supreme

PREDICT WHEAT SELLING IN N. D.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—Predictions of an increased movement of grain from North Dakota had a bearish influence today on the wheat market. Associated likelihood that rural borrowers on notes would begin to sell grain more freely was given as a result for the talk of a large crop movement. Bears contended also that American wheat prices are at present the highest in the world. Opening quotations which varied from the same as yesterday's finish to 2 cents lower were followed by a material setback all around, and then something of a reaction.

The close was unsettled, one and a quarter to two and quarter cents lower.

LINCOLN DAY TO BE OBSERVED BY CAPITAL CITY

Lincoln day will be observed tomorrow by practically all business houses and offices. The afternoon hours will be given up to exercises befitting Abraham Lincoln's birthday anniversary. In times like ours, with the world wide spirit of unrest such as follows a great war, it is not only expedient, it is necessary, that the people turn aside from the daily trend of thought and occupation to consider the life of a great character or a model for Americans—the man who, as Edwin Markham says, "Held the root the up."

The exercises will be held in the city auditorium at 2:30 p. m. Everybody is expected. Bring your friends who may be spending the day in town. Many favorite singers appear on the program, and the speakers are among the noted orators of the state.

The banquet at the Grand Pacific at 7:30 p. m. promises to be a successful affair and reservations may be

Grand Pacific hotel counter.

GERMANS PLEAD INABILITY TO PAY INDEMNITY

Say Hundred Fifty Billion
Marks as Limit—Talk of War

Berlin, Feb. 11.—The ministry of finance has concluded the utmost sum Germany can pay in reparation is 150,000,000,000 marks, this including all she has so far paid in cash and goods, according to information which the Deutsche Zeitung says it has received from a "special" source. Two hundred and twenty-six billion marks is the amount set by the Paris conference.

Refusal to allow consideration of the German counter proposals would result in Germany absolving herself from the London conference set for March 1, the newspaper declared it has learned. It adds that Germany would then suggest that the United States be called in as an arbitrator for the purpose of preventing an invasion of the Ruhr district which it claims would be looked upon by Germany as an act of war, which would positively destroy the treaty of Versailles.

sist Mexican Catholics in the proposed campaign. Attacks made upon a parade of Catholic youths in this city last Tuesday night brought the feeling between the radicals and the Catholics to a climax and charges and counter-charges of plotting which have been frequent on both sides have increased since that incident.

SENATE PASSES BILL CHANGING STATE HAIL LAW

Senator Ingerson's Measure Creating Revolving Reserve Fund Carries

TAKE RECESS TO MONDAY

No Hearing Held Friday by Senate Investigation Committee

The senate yesterday afternoon passed Senator Ingerson's re-enactment of the hail insurance bill. Before passage it was amended so as to make the hail insurance taxes delinquent in the same manner as the other taxes and subject to the same penalty.

The principal feature of the bill is the provision for a revolving fund to be created by utilizing the three-cent fixed acre tax for this purpose. It is estimated that in from five to seven years this will leave a large enough reserve to make it possible to pay the hail warrants as soon as the damage is ascertained.

Vote Expense Money.

Two other bills passed were Senator Whitman's measure giving the district judges expense money when sitting away from home. Senator Ettestad's act permitting incorporated towns of less than 200 population to become incorporated cities if they desire.

Senator Ward's bill regulating the sale of firearms was re-referred. The senate investigating committee did not hold any session this afternoon, a recess being taken until Monday afternoon at 4 p. m. The senate also recessed until Monday.

Censure Attorney.

Senator Thorson introduced a resolution censuring Attorney Sinkler of the senate investigating committee and the majority of that committee for the attempt of Mr. Sinkler to discredit and impeach J. W. Brinton when the duty of the committee and the attorney was merely to ascertain the facts and not to try anyone.

This brought forth hot retorts from Senators Lieberbach and Baker, Non-partisans, who jumped on Mr. Brinton for injecting politics into his answers and indulging in horse play.

SIMPLICITY TO MARK HARDING'S INAUGURATION

Planned to Follow Lincoln Ceremony as Closely as Is Possible

Chicago, Feb. 12.—While Senator Harding's inauguration as president of the United States is designed to follow arrangements of Abraham Lincoln's inaugural, there are features of 1861 that fortunately will be missing in 1921.

Instead of veterans of North and South marching side by side as they will next month, the only military forces in the inaugural parade of 1861 were the sappers and miners. The rest of the U. S. troops in the capital were stationed in different parts of the city to provide against emergencies. As the nation hovered on the brink of civil war, the great fear of the authorities was that effort would be made to interfere with the ceremonies.

If President Harding follows Lincoln's first inaugural address in comparison, he will do it in less than 3,000 words. In that state Lincoln made his plan for the Union and declared his intention to maintain it.

Four years later Lincoln's second inaugural was overshadowed by the procession of victories. The crowds were smaller than those of '61. Veterans marched in the parade and there was a brilliant array of officers in the city. A much commented on feature of the parade was a battalion of colored troops and a colored lodge of Masons. Philadelphia was represented by several fire companies with engines and two hose companies.

Lincoln's second inaugural address was done in a formal and dignified way, but the following part of it is still echoing in American thought as pertinent to the world's affairs of today.

"With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive to finish the work we are in, to bind up the nation's wounds, and care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan—to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

On this great day the president's thought, as with its generals. The great news on the day that Lincoln was inaugurated the second time was that General Sherman had captured General Early, occupied Charlottesville, Va., and was just heard from at Staunton where just before, a war president to be Woodrow Wilson was born.

It is considered modest for a Chinese woman to expose her foot.

THREE PLACES CLAIM HONOR OF BEING BIRTHPLACE OF LINCOLN WHOSE NAME IS REVERED THROUGHOUT THE WORLD

Above, three log cabins made famous by Lincoln; at top, the Berry house at Beechland, Ky., where his parents were married; in middle, the Lincoln birthplace at Nolin Creek; below, the true birthplace at Nolin Creek.

BY WILLIAM E. BARTON, Author of "The Soul of Abraham Lincoln," "The Paternity of Abraham Lincoln," Etc.

Homer had seven birthplaces; Lincoln had at least three—according to divergent Kentucky traditions.

First of the houses in which Abraham Lincoln is said to have been born is the Berry house at Beechland, Washington county, Kentucky.

If we should go to Beechland, we will find the house is not there. It has been moved to Harrodsburg, where it stands as a kind of museum, not very intimately associated with Lincoln, who never in his life was in Harrodsburg.

The house today bears little resemblance to its former self. Fortunately, however, it was photographed while on its original site.

In this house, the home of Richard Berry, the president's parents, Thomas and Nancy Lincoln, were married by Rev. Jesse Head, June 12, 1806.

Affidavits Err.

Washington county people have a formidable group of affidavits, from old and truthful people who declared that Abraham Lincoln was born there; that his people did not move to Harrodsburg until he was a lad several years of age; and certain witnesses affirmed on oath that they saw him as a child playing about the door of the Berry house.

My own impression is that these people were truthful and that they may have seen the little lad Abraham Lincoln playing about this house.

The parents of Abraham Lincoln were married in this house; he doubtless visited it in his early childhood and may have lived several months beneath its roof, but we must look elsewhere for his birthplace.

At Elizabethtown, the house we wish to see is not standing, but we can find people who will assure us that Lincoln was born there and who will show us the unattractive location.

What they are showing us is the place where Thomas and Nancy Lincoln spent their honeymoon, and lived from June, 1806, till the spring of 1808. Here Abraham's little sister, Sarah, was born.

The cabin that stood here was the first house advertised as the birthplace of Abraham Lincoln, and the picture is still frequently shown as such. This house was standing at the end of the Civil War. It was first photographed, apparently, for the "Campania Document" in which William M. Thayer, in 1864, told of the "Cherry Lincoln."

But Thomas Lincoln did not build this cabin, and Abraham was not born there and never lived there.

The last vestige of this cabin has disappeared.

The actual birthplace of Abraham Lincoln was in a log cabin which, after many removals, now stands not far from its original site, on Rock Spring farm, in Nolin Creek, two and one-half miles south from where the village of Harrodsburg now is, in what was then Harrodsburg and now is in La Rue county, Kentucky.

Although it is supposed to be located on the exact spot from which it was removed when it went on a long tour of exhibition over the country, persons born upon the farm assure me it originally stood at the foot of the hill of stone steps and near the spring.

This I believe to be correct; but I approve for esthetic reasons its more nearly location at the top of the hill. We climb the long, wide stairway to enter a classic Memorial Hall, practically empty except for the log cabin where Lincoln was born.

The Lincoln Highway leads to the Lincoln farm, and the spot is not now difficult of access either by automobiles or train. It is one of America's most sacred shrines.

Lincoln's Creed

This creed is an extract from "The Soul of Abraham Lincoln," by William E. Barton, than whom there is no greater student of Lincoln in all America.—The Editor.

I believe in God, the Almighty Ruler of Nations, our great and good and merciful Maker, our Father in Heaven, who notes the fall of a sparrow, and numbers the hairs of our heads.

I recognize the sublime truth and power in the Holy Scriptures and proved by all history that those nations only are blest whose God is the Lord.

I believe the will of God prevails. Without Him all human reliance is vain. Without the assistance of that Divine Being I cannot succeed. With that assistance I cannot fail.

I have a solemn oath registered in heaven to finish the work I am in, in full view of my responsibility to my God, with malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right as God gives me to see the right.

Commanding those who love me to His care, as I hope in their prayers they will commend me, I look through the help of God to a joyous meeting with many loved ones gone before.

FRESH POLICE SCANDALS DUE IN NEW YORK

Probe to Be Conducted by Chas. Whitman Promises Disclosures

New York, Feb. 12.—Disclosure of police scandals rivaling those of the days of Police Lieutenant Becker and the Human Roentgen, murder, for such Becker and an East Side gangster's gang went to death in the electric chair is forecast by former Governor Charles S. Whitman who, clothed with authority by the district attorney, is probing into alleged grafting and corruption by New York city officials. He has termed the situation "grave" and threatens to unfold a vice ribbon of many hues.

The Whitman inquiry has been under way only a short time, since the state assembly was urged to order legislative investigation into New York City's administration early in January. Already two police captains have been indicted for alleged grafting, charged with accepting fees from business firms in exchange for police protection during strikes. They are Captain William A. Bailey, Manhattan, and Captain Percy DuBois, Brooklyn. More were said to be slated to follow them.

Mr. Whitman has had his fights with higher city officials, and resorted to subpoena to bring Mayor Hylan and Police Commissioner Enright before him. Of these he demanded that his force be given a certain number of detectives the particular man he wanted to aid in the investigation. He exhorted state laws which he said authorized him to have what he wanted, without interference by Mayor or commissioner.

When money seemed to be lacking for continuation of the inquiry, financial assistance from private sources was promised the former governor. He announced, and a certified check for $20,000 was presented to him on January 21 by Edward Hatch Jr., chairman of the New York Merchant's association committee on pollution, sewerage and waste disposal. This check was made payable in the event the Board of Estimate fails to authorize a similar appropriation for further work, but later, the board did not fail to provide the money.

HOUSE ADJOURNS OVER HOLIDAY; HAS HOT FINISH

Discussion Over Courier-News Correspondent's Attitude Cause of Furor

FINISH HOUSE BILL NO. 5

The last action of the house of representatives yesterday afternoon before adjourning until Monday afternoon was to put its final stamp of approval on house bill No. 5. This measure, designed to make North Dakota "bone dry" in fact as well as name, now goes to the governor for his action.

The house spent most of the afternoon on the case of C. K. Gummerson, correspondent for the Courier-News, who was called before the house to answer some questions in regard to an article appearing under his signature to the effect that efforts had been made to "buy off" legislators and that emissaries of big bankers both within and outside of the state had been here.

The Nonpartisan members conducted a parliamentary battle for an hour and a half in behalf of Mr. Gummerson, and the result finally was that the house barred Mr. Gummerson from the floor but overlooked alleged contempt in his refusal to answer questions put to him. In answer to inquiry, Mr. Gummerson said that the alleged action to "buy off" members took place near the McKenzie hotel Sunday night, but refused to name the parties referred to.

Would Make Statement.

When called up at 3 o'clock this afternoon Mr. Gummerson attempted to read a statement but was stopped by the speaker, who said he could only answer questions. Mr. Gummerson asked an appeal to the house and Representative Gifford Patterson moved it. The chair was sustained, 54 to 62.

Rep. Reichert moved to dismiss for lack of jurisdiction, the motion being lost 50 to 70. Another motion by Rep. Sherman was to dismiss for want of evidence, but this question was held out of order. After the questions were asked and answers refused there was more parliamentary dueling, after Representative Shipley moved that Mr. Gummerson be refused the privilege of the floor of the house, and that the Courier-News be notified and asked to send a representative to report the sessions. The vote was 55 to 52 in favor of the motion. There were numerous roll calls, and Nonpartisans did most of the talking. Representative Kitchin charged the Nonpartisans with wasting an hour and a half of time. Rep. John Maddox wanted a committee named to find out how much the five hours dealing with Mr. Gummerson's case cost the state. Rep. Shipley retorted that he amended to the effect that majority members pay the bill, saying they were at fault.

Reichert's Assertion.

During a discussion Representative Reichert, Nonpartisan, declared that he believed Mr. Gummerson told the truth in his article, and declared he had evidence in his possession for someone to support his view. Representative Gramstad announced that owing to the desire of some members to discuss house bill No. 152 more fully he wished to make a motion to reconsider the bill.

Three bills introduced, with consent of the committee on delayed bills. They were house bill No. 202, by the educational committee, to abolish the office of school treasurer, transferring the duties to the county treasurer, effective in 1922; house bill 203, relating to the printing of session laws, and house bill 204, relating to seed grain bonds. The committee recommended that house bills Nos. 204 and 205 not be permitted to be introduced, and the committee was sustained. They were minor bills.

House voted to employ W. D. Austin as assistant chief clerk, and E. M. Gray will devote all his time during the remainder of the session to the duties of journal clerk.

WAR SPIRIT IN GEMANY AGAIN BREAKS FORTH

Hatred of French Said to Be Cause for Recrudescence

CHANGE ON ENGLAND

Held That Country Has Attitude of Fair Play in Negotiations

(By Associated Press.)
Berlin, Feb. 12.—Recrudescence of the war spirit in the German people, which even as late as six months ago apparently had been completely banished, recently has assumed a new and noticeable aspect, particularly in relation to the French who generally are blamed for most of the post-war ills of the German nation.
Civilians and former soldiers alike frankly express the most intense hatred for the French and again are dreaming of a day when they can even up in war what they have lost in peace. There is no evidence of ill-feeling against the English and toward the Americans, of whom much is expected, commercially, there is every indication of good will.
England on the whole has been credited with a desire for fair play in the execution of the peace treaty, but in many sources the opinion prevails that France is destined to have her way, even at the expense of the integrity of the German nation. (This applied to the situation before the amount of the German indemnity was fixed.)
Agitation in certain French circles for an independent South Germany, probably under the domination of Bavaria; the alleged pro-Polish attitude of the French military in the Upper Silesian zone; the insistence of the French that the Elzowmerwehr and other "protective" organizations shall at once disarm; threats of a military occupation of the Ruhr district; and use of French negro troops in the occupied zone, all have contributed to this revival of race hatred. Delivery of milk cows to the French has, in view of the milk shortage in Germany and the increase in infant mortality intensified the feeling among the civilian population against the French people.
A German government official with whom the correspondent discussed the situation did not agree with some men who once held high commissions in the army that "another struggle with France is inevitable" but expressed the opinion that "hatred of the French is a natural consequence of French conduct." He believed, however, that superficial aspects had led to exaggerated opinions of the war spirit of the German people.
"For example, German army uniforms may be seen everywhere," he said, "and especially in the universities. The stranger immediately jumps to the conclusion that this is an exhibition of the military spirit. The facts are that many soldiers and this applies particularly to students, are wearing uniforms to conceal the fact they have no shirts. They are too poor to buy other clothes."
However, he thought, "that other things being equal" the Germans would be willing to promptly go about settling old scores with the French.

I certainly suffered awfully with those nervous fainting spells. I did not know anyone at times and used to scream. A doctor treated me for the spells but did not seem to do much good. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills before so I began taking them again. I soon felt a change and could do my work without pain and was cured of those nervous spells. Now I have a nice fat baby girl and had an easy time at birth, thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." Mrs. WILLIAM C. WERNER, 1218 Van Hook St., Camden, N. J.

FARCE COMEDY AT AUDITORIUM

Scent From "Nightie Night", Billed Here for Feb. 14th

"Nightie Night" after a season's run in New York at the Princess theatre will be the attraction at the auditorium Feb. 14. Adolph Klauber in producing this rip roaring farce has proven to the playgoing public that a farce can be funny without having a trace of questionable humor. There are many screamingly funny situations in "Nightie Night" that no authors invented until Miss Matthews and Mrs. Stanley introduced them into their play and the reviewers took the time to mention after the first performance in New York that "Nightie Night" was the most original play that the metropolis had seen in a long time.

In speaking of this Miss Matthews, Mrs. Stanley said, we spent a great deal of time seeing every comedy and farce in town and if we found one situation or characterization that resembled what we were using in "Nightie Night" we changed it at once.

PREMIER OF GREAT BRITAIN HAS HARD TIME PAYING BILLS ON BIG SALARY

DECLARES ONE WHO HAS TRIED TO DO IT

London, Feb. 12.—The premier of Great Britain has a hard time of it trying to pay his bills on a salary of 5,000 pounds a year and his pay ought to be raised, says the former prime minister, Herbert H. Asquith, who ought to know for he occupied the position for 11 years.
As far as known, Mr. David Lloyd George has not asked for a raise in pay but his remuneration has been the subject of an inquiry conducted by a committee of Parliament which also is examining into the salaries of all the British cabinet ministers.
Mr. Asquith told the committee that the office of the premier of Great Britain is a very expensive one and his duties can not be properly discharged by an expenditure limited to that amount. The former prime minister added, that he himself, was a much poorer man when he left the office than when he entered it.
Even if a government hospitality fund should be provided for entertaining distinguished foreigners, Mr. Asquith was of the opinion that the extended over a long period of time, repayable on the amortization plan with a low rate of interest. His short term credit should be available at all times, according to the needs of the farmer, and the rate of interest would be such as is usually paid by business generally. This classification of credit should apply to agriculture generally where the farming community is established.
"In the newer sections where pioneering must be done, another form of credit must be considered. The pioneer farmer must receive special consideration during the initial period and as he has very little scrutiny to offer, the credit he receives must be more or less of a personal nature. Such credit is usually extended by individuals, land corporations, or colonization companies."
Declaring the importance of the agricultural industry is just being understood, Mr. Quamme continued: "It is the fundamental and foundation industry of our nation and upon it is built the superstructure of our other industries. Primary liquidation begins on the farm. Farming, therefore, must be given special consideration."

MANDAN BEATS LOCALS; GREAT CROWD PRESENT

Team Weakened With Alfson Out—Score of Slaughter Is 27 to 6

Details of the Bismarck-Mandan high school basketball game, played in Mandan last night, are so horrible in Mandan last night, are rather harrowing from a Bismarck standpoint. With Alfson center out of the game, and the team consequently disorganized, Bismarck made a poor showing. The score was 27 to 6 with Mandan on the long end.
There's no questioning the loyalty of Bismarck supporters, however, a special train carried 300 Bismarckians to Mandan and many went across in automobiles. The fact that most of the seats in the hall were all taken by Mandan people and Bismarck people had to stand up, didn't lessen their enthusiasm. Before the game started the hall was jammed and many were on the outside, it being estimated that no less than 1,200 people saw or tried to see the game.
Bismarck made the first three points on a field basket and foul throw, but made no more points in the first half. In the second half Bismarck also made three points. Mandan shot the ball in the basket from angles. Four throws that went over half the length of the floor happened to go right through the hoop.

MANDAN BEATS LOCALS; GREAT CROWD PRESENT

Team Weakened With Alfson Out—Score of Slaughter Is 27 to 6

Details of the Bismarck-Mandan high school basketball game, played in Mandan last night, are so horrible in Mandan last night, are rather harrowing from a Bismarck standpoint. With Alfson center out of the game, and the team consequently disorganized, Bismarck made a poor showing. The score was 27 to 6 with Mandan on the long end.
There's no questioning the loyalty of Bismarck supporters, however, a special train carried 300 Bismarckians to Mandan and many went across in automobiles. The fact that most of the seats in the hall were all taken by Mandan people and Bismarck people had to stand up, didn't lessen their enthusiasm. Before the game started the hall was jammed and many were on the outside, it being estimated that no less than 1,200 people saw or tried to see the game.
Bismarck made the first three points on a field basket and foul throw, but made no more points in the first half. In the second half Bismarck also made three points. Mandan shot the ball in the basket from angles. Four throws that went over half the length of the floor happened to go right through the hoop.

ENGINEERS' DANCE.
The dance in honor of the visiting engineers and ladies, given by the Bismarck chapters of North Dakota Society of Engineers and the North Dakota chapter of the American Association of Engineers proved to be one of the very enjoyable affairs of the busy social week in Bismarck.

The dance was given in Patterson hall. Probably the largest assembly of out of town guests assembled in the city at a recreational affair during the year was here, so many visitors being in town over the week and attending the convention.

The N. D. Society of Engineers is long established, this being their thirteenth annual convention, and professional men from all over the state were in attendance. Beside Miss Esther Jack, city engineer of Williston, about a dozen ladies attended the convention with their husbands.

JOLLY PARTY.
Mrs. Alfred Zuger and Mrs. E. V. Lahr were hostesses last evening at the home of the latter, at 15 Avenue B, to about 50 friends. Guests came in costume and the evening was spent with music, games and stunts. Marked ingenuity was apparent in designing of costume and striking originality was the keynote of every creation.

The hostesses served a course lunch late in the evening, assisted by interesting types of guests. No gentleman were bidden to the affair, yet the ladies report one of the most successful parties of the season.

LEFT FOR HOME.
Mrs. William Watt left for her home at Leavenworth last evening, after spending some weeks in Bismarck with her husband. Representative William Watt of Cass county, Mrs. Watt attended a tea given in honor of wives of the engineers on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Moyer.

VISITING IN CITY.
Mrs. Bond, wife of Senator Bond, of Minot, is in Bismarck to remain until the middle of next week. Mrs. Ployhar, wife of Senator Ployhar, of Valley City, arrived in the city this noon to spend several days.

"Humoresque" Appealing Picture.
After all, lavish settings and spectacular scenes are not absolute requisites for the truly great motion picture, "Humoresque" on view at the Eltinge theatre Wednesday is among the big photoplays of the year because it impresses one with its sincerity and intense heart appeal. It is a story of human beings as they are. Tears and laughter intermingle in it as they do in real life. The story of the genius of the violin who, aided by that beautiful gift, motherly love, rose from obscurity and poverty to the heights strikes a responsive chord in every heart.
"Humoresque" was adapted from Fannie Hurst's novel of the same name. The chief character are portrayed with rare understanding by Alma Rubens, Gaston Glass, Vera Gordon and Dore Davidson.

TELL OF NEEDS OF CITY SCHOOLS AT LUNCHEON

Martin Talks on Big Growth in Bismarck's Educational Institutions

SUPT. GIVES FIGURES

Principal Bolt and D. T. Owens Also Speak to Business Men

Bismarck schools are badly in need of relief from the present congestion, according to J. M. Martin, city superintendent of schools, who talked Friday at the noon luncheon of the Commercial club on the needs of the city schools.

Mr. Martin gave figures showing the growth of the school.

In 1906-17, he said the monthly pay roll of the teachers at the high school was $1,211.22, and in the grade schools $2,416.91, or a total of $3,628.13. The number of teachers then was twelve for the high school and twenty-three for the grades.

In 1920-21, the monthly pay roll for the high school teachers, $2,837.21, and for the grades, $5,324.41, or a total of $8,161.62. There were 16 teachers employed in the high schools and 35 in the grades.

The enrollment in 1915-16 was, high school, 235; grades, 659, and for 1920-21, high school, 351; grades, 1,094. The increase in the pay roll was 125 per cent.

The per capita cost in 1920-21, based on cost of teachers, janitors and fuel only, was for the high school, $9.19, and the grades, $5.38.

Mr. Martin told of the problems which have been met as follows: physical training, night schools, mid-year promotion, establishing standard of qualifications for teachers, normal training course in the high school, bonus system with salaries, truant officers, and the introduction of picture studies.

The levy made in 1915-16, he said, was a trifle over $47,000, and the levy for 1921-22 is $125,294. The present bonded indebtedness of the district is $160,000, with some outstanding warrants.

Principal C. F. Bolt of the high school, spoke especially on the needs of the high school.

D. T. Owens, member of the school board, spoke on the expansion of the schools, the purchasing of school sites and the need of building for the future.

Appendicitis Cured by Chiropractic

Arena, No. Dak., July, 1920

To Whom It May Concern:

This is to certify that my son, Geo. Christianson, Jr., had appendicitis in July, 1918. He was so bad he could hardly walk. He was taken to Dr. Engle's office with the help of myself and Rev. Svore. He took adjustments and in three days he was so well that he was playing about town, and in eighteen days he had completely recovered from the appendicitis. More than two years have now passed since the event and he is still enjoying the best of health, his appendicitis having never returned.

I wish also to state that I had an attack myself about a year ago. I got an automobile to take me to Bismarck, which is a distance of more than fifty miles, and immediately went to Dr. Engle's office. I received not more than four adjustments and have never had any trouble since.

I authorize Dr. Engle to use this testimonial in any way he may see fit, because I like to have others saved from operations when they are not necessary.

I am, yours very truly,
GEO. CHRISTIANSON.

ABE LINCOLN'S MOTTO

A century ago, a boy, who was to be crowned with immortal fame, lived on a hilly, unfruitful farm in southern Indiana. A few days ago the governor, in reply to appeals from all over the country, decided that a Lincoln Home Trail shall be constructed through that farm.

This highway will bring countless thousands of pilgrims to the spot where the boy Lincoln laid the foundation for his immortal career. It will give them Lincoln thoughts; it will cause them to ask:

"What lessons did Lincoln learn here, that he could rise head and shoulders above his fellows?"

"I did not go to school more than six months in my life," Abraham Lincoln said years afterward.

But he learned the greatest lessons life can teach! For he studied nature, books, man. He studied life itself.

"Do it better than any one you know does it!"

That was one of Abe Lincoln's boyhood commands to himself. He became the best wrestler, the fastest runner, the hardest worker in and around Gentryville. He was a perfect speller; so they always ruled him out of spelling matches. He was the best read man in three counties, the best penman, the best debater.

Ida Tarbell says of Lincoln, "He could strike with a maul heavier blows" and "sink an ax deeper into the wood" than anybody else in the community.

How? Why?

"Do it better than anybody else you know!"

Abe Lincoln carried this same idea into his home life; he was a better son to his step-mother than her own son was. That is no common thing. But his step-mother's word proves it.

"Abe never gave me a cross word or look. He never refused, in fact or appearance, to do anything I requested him. * * * I had a son, John, who was raised with Abe. Both were good boys; but I must say, both now being dead, that Abe was the best boy I ever saw, or expect to see."

Lessons Lincoln learned can be learned by any of us living today by studying what he studied, nature, books, man—and life itself.

To "do it better than any one else you know" demands an effort as earnest and thorough as Lincoln gave back in the days when he lived on the Lincoln Home Trail.

THE GYRO-COMPASS

By Eric Janssen

The question has been often asked why we need a gyro-compass when we have the magnetic needle and understand its use.

The magnetic compass and the gyrostatic compass both point north and south, but beyond this they have nothing in common. They are absolutely different instruments, governed by entirely different laws, although they are used for the same purpose.

A gyrostat consists of an accurately balanced spinning wheel; the earth as it rotates is constantly tilting the axis of this wheel in space.

The wheel turns so as to set its axis as nearly parallel as possible to the axis of the earth. The wheel stops tilting only when the two axes are parallel, and this is when it points due north.

The gyro-compass has nothing to do with magnetic force. It is of very little use on land; its greatest value is on board ship.

This instrument has been so perfected that it is practically insensible to the roll of the ship and responds only to the slow movements of the earth as it rotates on its axis.

One such compass was in use on a fast destroyer during a heavy gale. The roll of the ship was more than 50 degrees. Many of the crew were forced to lie on the decks and the lockers were emptied; even some of the oil lamps suspended from the ceilings were displaced by the pitch of the vessel, yet the gyro-compass maintained its accuracy and guided the vessel into harbor out of reach of the storm.

In a perfect whirlwind of movement the instrument heeded only the slow, sure movement made by the earth in its daily journey upon its axis.

Plot to abolish government free seeds defeated by house vote. Sic semper sedition!

Odd, isn't it, that one can read of the death of William Gunn, famous cricketer, without a thrill, but we'd be overcome if we heard Babe Ruth had a hangnail?

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

LINCOLN, MAN OF GOD

Lincoln once said: "Whenever any church will inscribe over its altar as a qualification for membership the Saviour's statement of the substance of the law and Gospel, 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy soul and with all thy mind, and thy neighbor as thyself,' that church will I join with all my heart and soul." He never joined a church, and he has been accused of being a skeptic, even an infidel, but this was because the accusers measured Christianity by forms and professions rather than by faith and conduct. In reality few men have ever approached so nearly to the faultless personality of Christ, few have been so profoundly influenced by internal religion few have felt so surely and distinctly the guiding hand of God, as did Abraham Lincoln. The proof of this has been convincingly and eloquently presented in a book entitled "Abraham Lincoln, Man of God," by Dr. John Wesley Hill, just published by the Putnam's. Dr. Hill, who is chancellor of Lincoln Memorial University, has made a long and thorough study of the subject, drawing from personal as well as from recorded sources of information. He traces the development of religious feeling and religious thought in Lincoln, from the teachings and associations of his childhood, through his life to the culmination of his perfect manhood in the stress and storm of civil war; and ever he finds him reaching after and grasping the fundamentals of religion, grasping and holding, in his later years, with a faith that was absolute. He finds running through the years and accumulating in strength with time, abundant and conclusive evidence that Lincoln was indeed "a man of God."

One who knew Lincoln well in his earlier years walked with him one night on a country road outside of Springfield and they discussed the stars which shone brilliantly. "I never behold them that I do not feel that I am looking in the face of God," said Lincoln to his companion. "I can see how it might be possible for a man to look down upon the earth and be an atheist, but I cannot see how he could look up into the heavens and say there is no God." And he had an ever increasing sense that not only did God exist, but that God was guiding him. In 1837, Dr. Hill relates, a great preacher of that day, Peter Akers, spoke at Salem, and Lincoln heard him. The address was an impassioned attack upon slavery, in which the speaker predicted civil war. On the way back to Springfield that night Lincoln said to his friends, "Gentlemen, you may be surprised and think it strange, but when the preacher was describing the civil war, I distinctly saw myself, as in second sight, bearing an important part in that strife." That Lincoln was a mystic is well known, but that he was a mystic of the order of Jesus needs to be better understood if we are to arrive at a correct judgment of the man and his work, and to this understanding this book contributes very largely and importantly. He never felt that he accomplished through his own endeavors, but that he was an instrument of a higher power; and in that power he trusted implicitly.

When he said farewell to his friends in Springfield on leaving for Washington, he told them he was going to a task greater than that of Washington. "Without the assistance of that Divine Being who ever attended him I cannot succeed," he said. "With that assistance I cannot fail." And in his speeches on the way to the Capital he repeatedly expressed the same confidence, the same submission and the same trust. Through all the gloomy days of the war he continued to feel that the conclusion was in God's hands and that whatever the result it would be the result that God desired. Talking to a delegation at the White House, in 1862, he expressed the belief that if they did right God would lead them safely through, but he said he also believed that "He will compel us to do right, in order that He may do these things, not so much because we desire them as that they accord with His plans of dealing with this nation, in the midst of which He means to establish justice. * * * I have felt His hand upon me in great trials and submitted to His guidance, and I trust that as He shall further open the way, I will be ready to walk therein, relying on His help and trusting in His goodness and wisdom." "I talk to God," he said at another time. "My mind seems relieved when I do, and a way is suggested."

He "talked with God" and he walked with God. His was not the superficial faith that finds sufficient expression in the utterance of a creed and in the outward signs of righteousness. He lived his faith, putting it into the conduct of every day, simply, without sanctimony, without ostentation, but earnestly, sincerely and unafraid. Lincoln, the statesman, is immortal, but it is Lincoln the man—kindly, tender, good, wise with a broadness and charity and simplicity rarely combined in the annals of human life—that grows and ever grows in the admiration and affection of mankind the world over. Every year adds not only to the enduring fame of Abraham Lincoln, but to his influence in the upward progress of humanity. The evidence collected and presented by Dr. Hill surrounds him with that divinity which is the garb of all goodness that is firmly founded on the rock of faith, and will lift him still higher in the reverent love of men.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

THE SPIRIT OF THE LINCOLN HOME TRAIL

HUMANITY'S MAN

BY JUDGE R. M. WANAMAKER

Of the Ohio Supreme Court

When God made Abraham Lincoln, he seems to have used all nature's resources on inside equipment. There was little left over for outside finish. I have known the order to be reversed.

Humanity's Child, he became Humanity's Man. Born on the frontier of America, he lived to place America on the frontier of the Democracy of the world.

His great goal was to bring the American people back to the Declaration of Independence, and once more read it into our constitution and life. In old Independence Hall in Philadelphia, in 1861, when on his way to the capital to be inaugurated as president, he said in reply to the chairman's welcome.

"I can say in return, sir, that all the political sentiments that I can entertain, have been drawn, far as I have been able to draw them, from the sentiments which originated and were given to the world from this hall. I have never had a feeling politically that did not spring from the sentiments prescribed in the Declaration of Independence—'which gave liberty, not alone to the people of this country, but I hope to the world for all future time.'"

The immortal Declaration had been buried for a long time when it was resurrected for Lincoln in the fifties.

If we were to teach and preach in schools and churches, fewer fads and less scholasticism, and more of the Declaration of Independence and Lincoln's principles I feel it would soon be reflected in our individual and national life.

GUINEA PIGS ARE HELD TO TAKE THE VOLSTEAD ACT LITERALLY, TURNING BACKS ON HOME BREW GIVEN THEM

Boston, Mass., Feb. 12.—Because guinea pigs have been found to accept Volstead Act literally, and turn their backs to alluring home brew, the little animals which are raised here for test purposes are reported to have depreciated in value almost 100 per cent.

It was found the fond belief of home brew makers some time ago that if they tried their amateur productions on the guinea pig, human life and digestion might be saved. The guinea pig had proven a satisfactory subject for scientific tests and according to their reasoning, if the sensitive animal survived their brew it was ripe for human consumption. If the pig died, it was in a good cause, and the brewers tried again to make a liquor fit to drink by man and beast.

"Pigs is pigs" but the guinea variety is more rodent than pig and have been found to value their lives above convivial compensations of liquor samples. Those who have tried their brews on the guinea pigs have found that no amount of coaxing can bring the sagacious rodents to the flowing bowl of kitchen-made drugs. They submit to the administrations of strange drugs and serums in the interest of science but anything alcoholic is abhorrent to them.

Thousands of purchases were made when it was reported that guinea pigs could test the margin of safety in unsampled contraband concoctions. Now they are a drug on the market, ready to be doled out to hospitals and scientists for use in routine experiments.

JUST JOKING

All's Well That Ends Well.
Company came unexpectedly and Mrs. Holmes was not prepared to entertain them. Evidently her anxiety was shared by little May. As the visitors were seated at the table, the child looked approvingly at the various edibles and cheerfully observed: "Well, mamma, we've got a pretty good dinner after all, haven't we?" Country Gentleman.

The Reason Why.
The school teacher was giving an object lesson on sheep to the infants' class, explaining how they are washed, sheared, etc. She then showed the whole class a picture of a sheep and a lamb.
"Now who can tell me why it is that the sheep has a short tail, and the lamb a long one?" she asked.
Little Joy jumped up immediately, and this was her reply:
"Please, teacher, the sheep's tail was shrunk in the wash."—Every Woman's.

Retrenching.
The Wedding Guest.—I notice you cut out the practice of throwing old shoes after the bridal pair. Silly custom, wasn't it?
The Bride's Father.—And wasteful. After paying the wedding expenses my family will be wearing those old shoes for a year or so.—New York Globe.

Pretty Strong Hint.
"What did the bride's father do for the happy couple?"
"He bought their railroad tickets."
"Ah."
"But the happy pair didn't discover until after they got on the train that their tickets read only one way."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

MILLIONS ON HIS HEAD.
Moscow, Feb. 12.—Whoever brings in the head of Osip Lietnvi formerly president of the soviet of Tsaritsyn will be rewarded with ten million rubles. He was the terror of the lower Volga. The reward is in Lenin's money.

Remarkable Remarks

"The man who keeps on fighting the battle of life till middle age, without throwing up the sponge, cannot be called a failure."—Father Bernard Vaughan.

"We must set limits to the tide of immigration so that a unified national life and consciousness shall remain possible to us."—Dr. Jacob

LOCOMOTOR ATAXIA (TABS)
Would you be kind enough to indicate to me the best treatment now given for early tabs?

The degeneration of the nerves apparently has a tendency to occur in those nerves whose functions are most used, hence to continue to exercise these nerves as much as before is only to court an extension of the degenerative processes.

Walking should be slow. The distance should be short, and, when possible, driving should be substituted. Fatigue, both of mind and body, should be avoided, fresh air and nourishing food are essential.

Careful treatment by a qualified physician and careful attention to details may do much to retard, and, perhaps, even to arrest the extension of the nerve degeneration.

To many cases, the inability to walk straight is the most distressing symptom, and the methods introduced by Frenkel for correcting this difficulty by means of systematic exercises have proved of decided value.

CANKER SORES.
Please tell me the cause and cure for canker sores in the mouth. I have no ailments of any kind except nervousness and these canker sores. While canker sores ordinarily demand little attention, the repeated oc-

LINCOLN'S FAVORITE POEM

"OH, WHY SHOULD THE SPIRIT OF MORTAL BE PROUD."

Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be proud
Like a swift-fitting meteor, a fast-flying cloud,
A flash of the lightning, a break of the wave,
He passeth from life to his rest in the grave.

The leaves of the oak and the willow shall fade
Be scattered around, and together be laid;
As the young and the old, the low and the high,
Shall crumble to dust and together shall lie.

So the multitude goes, like the flower or weed,
That withers away to let others succeed;
So the multitude comes even those we behold,
To repeat every tale that has often been told.

For we are the same things our fathers have been;
We see the same sights our fathers have seen;
We drink the same stream, we feel the same sun,
And run the same course our fathers have run.

The thoughts we are thinking our fathers did think;
From the death we are shrinking our fathers did shrink.
To the life we are clinging our fathers did cling,
But it speeds from us all like a bird on the wing.

Yea, hope and despondency, pleasure and pain,
Are mingled together in sunshine and rain;
And the smile and the tear the song and the dirge,
Still follow each other like surge upon surge.

'Tis the wink of an eye; 'tis the draught of a breath
From the blossom of health to the paleness of death
From the gilded salon to the bier and the shroud;
Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?
—WILLIAM KNOX (1789-1825).

HE WAS EN-LIGHT-ENED.

During a flood a few years ago the river reached the power plant about 2 a. m., cutting off the power.

The operators in the telephone exchange called the wire chief, who started to the office in his sliver, and found his lights out. Before reaching the office he was stopped by a police officer, who asked him why he had no lights. Doing a little thinking, he told the officer:

"Of course, my lights are out, the juice is out all over town."

The officer studied a minute and said: "By golly, that's so; go ahead."—Science and Invention Magazine.

Too Feminine.

"I'M WORTH A MILLION" WILLARD TELLS

"What Do I Care for Money? It's Nothing! I'm Fighting Dempsey Because I want the Championship Crown."

(N. E. A. Staff Special.)
(Copyright, 1921, by Newspaper Association.)
New York, Feb. 12.—Dollars' Gushing dollars!
"I've made a million of 'em," says Jess Willard.
The ex-champion—so rich he purrs—has his six-cylinder heart set on beating Dempsey.
"What do I care for money? It's nothing," says Willard.
"I cleaned up almost $750,000 in oil alone in two years."
"You betcha I did. Ain't that more'n I could get in the ring in 40 years."
"And Uncle Sam bought my circus livestock wagons and all brought me $225,000."
The millionaire fighter laughed a Kansas farmer laugh as he named the "Willard wants to fight for money" story.
"I'll fight Dempsey any place—for nothing if necessary."
"What do I care about the gate receipts? Nothing."
"It's the crown I lost I want back, and I won't be happy without it."

Buys Home in Cal.
Jess came to New York to take care of business matters. Oil leases and final legal papers for his $40,000 home in Hollywood, Cal., which he just bought, are on his mind.
"Heads, a millionaire hasn't kept Jess from taking exercise."
Back on his Kansas farm near Topeka he's been pulling weeds, hoeing his potatoes and chopping wood.
He claims he's in better shape than when Dempsey knocked him in Toledo.
Jess looks it.

Looks His Gym.
"Ever since the fight at Toledo I've been working out. Not strenuously, but exercising."
"The whole trouble with prize fighters who lay off is they turn over on their backs and get soft and flabby."
"It didn't happen to me. Not on your life!"
My gymnasium for two years has been the great outdoors.
"When I meet Dempsey in March the world will see a different fight."

His Toledo Daze.
"I'm going to win. I lost to Dempsey by accident. He hit me when I broke clean in a clinch. After the first round started I never knew I was in a fight."
"And if I win this time I'll defend my title against 'em all."
"If I lose—well, I can't say right off what I'd do. Retire, I suppose. Ain't figuring on that."

Weight a Secret.
After the millionaire handles his financial business he'll look over a training camp in New Jersey.
Refusing to give data on his weight or his waist line, the giant shifted his underpinning. For Jess is bigger than ever. The scales look like he'd run 'em up to 260 at least.

His Own Boss.
"And tell 'em I'm my own manager, too. Ray Arnesen just handles my business affairs for me."
"I can handle myself best when left alone."
With that the biggest man who ever went down in a prize ring faded out of the picture—all smiles and jingling his only dollars.

TIGERTOWN BACKS TYRUS

(N. E. A. Staff Special.)
Detroit, Feb. 11.—Ty Cobb, boy manager of the American League, has already convinced Tigertown it will get out of the ruck.
Never in the history of Detroit baseball has there been such a landslide of sentiment toward one man.
Ty Cobb is the man of the hour. There's only one team in Ban John's son's league so far as Tiger fans are concerned.
For 15 years Ty has thrilled Detroiters by his brilliant playing. But they had stopped making a fuss over his greatness.
Now with the hope that a pennant may fly again soon at Navin field, Ty is a new kind of idol in their eyes.
The homecoming banquet given Ty was the most extensive demonstration of enthusiasm ever given a ball player here.
Hughie Jennings, now acting club manager of the Giants, came back to Tigertown to see that Ty got off to a flying start.
He said no many splendid things about the jewel from Geer in that the player blushed.
Ty is full of brand new ideas.
Reform Ideas
He hasn't been playing ball for 15 years without doing some thing about thinking on baseball things. He is a man with a new idea on what it means to be a manager and to be a fan with you.
For Ty is going to get the last they feel certain.
The War Department has so far awarded 78 congressional medals.

French Track Star to Show U. S. His Tricks

Josef Guillemot, French distance runner, who will compete with America's field stars in a special race at Madison Square Garden Feb. 19, is full of tricks on the track and off.
He flops up and down as he runs as if continually falling.
"Frequently he breaks out from the pack to set his own pace when the stride doesn't suit."
Again he will pick out his closest rival, keeping step with him for several laps and looking up into his face as if studying his powers of endurance.
Fake Cigaret.
Off the track Guillemot is often seen with a cigaret in his mouth. But it's a fake.
People who think he is breaking training by smoking find later that he was just pretending.
In the Olympic games at Antwerp he shared honors with Nurmi, Finn, winning the 5,000-meter race and losing the longer grind of 10,000.

meters. Both races lay between these two runners.
He is very short and stockily built. Races lily.
The French star will find his chief competitor, it is believed, in Jole Ray. American entries are limited to five.
Guillemot is a corporal in the French army. He had to secure a special furlough in order to make the trip.

Guillemot, distance runner, is the most popular athlete in France when Carpenter is abroad.

The advance guard of the Cubs is already fanning itself in slinky Cal.

The woman who wants to bet 30 acres of land that Dempsey beats Willard was probably a ringsider at Toledo.

Anyone who bets more than a nickel cigar on a sporting event now is looked on with suspicion.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY (Publishers of the Famous NEW Standard Dictionary), NEW YORK

Why business should be depressed in a land overflowing with supplies that the rest of the world is suffering for, with ships lying idle that could carry them, will puzzle future generations, and to say that such a depression can not last long in the face of the whole world's need of our products, is very much like saying one and one make two.

THE LITERARY DIGEST has asked hundreds of authorities covering the entire country, comprising business leaders, professors of economics, and financial editors of daily papers for their opinion as to the prospect of prosperity's return—and when. The answers are published in this week's issue, and people who can see nothing but gloom all around the business horizon may revise their ideas when they glance over the returns. Of course, it is very much like a survey of a battle-field, but it is a battle-field where the forces are already rearming and reforming, and are here and there beginning to advance again. Moreover, the American business army is one that has never known defeat, and the reason why is evident in the tone of unconquerable optimism that runs through even the casual reports.

"Actual business recovery to begin about April 1st;" "expect gradual improvement from now forward;" "expect business recovery gradual until inauguration—then rapid;" "expect business recovery to begin probably in spring;" "recovery is already under way;" "conditions will improve from now on." These expressions reflect the general tenor of the many replies we have received from big business leaders throughout the country.

This poll of American industry is nation-wide, and covers every State in the Union and practically every important industry. Do not fail to read it in this week's DIGEST, February 12th.

Other important news-articles in this number of THE DIGEST are:

EARL HOMER SHEELY IS HIS NAME.

GAS 'ER UP, TAD!
"Forget 'the glorious defeats!' Give us some victories!" That's the way one old grad sizes up Yale's football fix.
Tad Jones has gone back to buckle into a future full of hard knocks unless the Ells catch up with modern football on the double quick.
Yale eleven don't know much about the football of today.

It'll take even a Tad Jones time to rebuild a modern machine on the old chassis of yesterday.

MAT ENTAILS A STICK TO IT.
New York, Feb. 12.—Wrestling has its separate following.
New York gets the biggest crowds of any place in the country.
They're about 10,000 wrestling fans here.
They are as regular and punctual in their visits as the bleacher fans in summer.
Jack Curley, promoter-in-chief, possesses the magic to book any pair of grapplers he wishes.
What Tex Rickard is to the boxing game, Curley is to New York's wrestling sport.
Boston, too, has a steady wrestling crowd.
Out in the middle west—Nebraska, Illinois, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas—the game also flourishes.

MUST CARRY SEMI-PROS.
Toronto, Feb. 11.—The Mini League will do business with the same line-up of clubs. It had last year. Each club must carry at least three players who have not been in organized ball before.

SEALS MUST ALL GOLF.
Del Monte, Cal. Feb. 11.—When the San Francisco Seal-club here March 15 for spring training they'll bring their golf sticks along. Golf will be one of their regular training stunts.

State College, Pa. Feb. 12.—"Hinky" Hallies and Captain Killing, of the Penn State eleven are shooting baskets for the charity five now. They also play baseball.

Montana has more than 2,000,000 acres of land under irrigation.

Coast Star Limp But It Doesn't Hurt His Ball Playing

BY DEAN SNYDER.
American League fans are going to get acquainted with another fence-buster this summer.
He is Earl Homer Sheely, Coast league batting champ of 1920, whom Charles Comiskey bought to fill the first base cog in his gear stripped Sox machine.
Why Sheely has been left in the minors so long without big time trial has been a puzzle to Pacific coast fans.
One Leg Bad.
The answer probably is that Sheely has a bum leg.
Not bad in the sense that it hurts his ball playing. It only looks a little tough to see a diamond star limp.
He suffered a "broken leg" several years ago. It was poorly set.
Proof that it doesn't bother his playing is that the accident happened long before he made a name for himself as a slugger and fielder.

The coaster packs a mean bat. Playing in 188 games with Salt Lake last year he hit .371.

His Bat Dope.
Here's the dope on his "Babe Ruth" swinging gear:
Thirty-three home runs.
Five triples.
Fifty-one doubles.
One seventy-one singles.
He missed tying the Coast league home run record by just one long stand. Bunny Briefs' mark of 34 still stands.
Sheely weighs 200 pounds. He stands 6 feet 4 inches tall. His age is 26.
He has a dozen years of minor league experience back of him.
His batting eye has checked off averages of .303, .300, .305 and .371 for the last four years.

Star First Sacker.
His fielding at first has been a feature of the western circuit several years.
When flanked by Eddie Collins on his right there won't be much use hitting balls his way.
He's just the man for Comiskey.
The Old Roman couldn't risk a youngster who needed time to ripen.
In Sheely he has the desired combination—slugger, star fielder and veteran.
And to top off a good bargain the kid's middle name is Homer.
No wonder he can hit.

ARE NOT STRANGERS.
Philadelphia, Feb. 12.—Jimmy Ring, Cluey pitcher, who goes to the Phils in the Rixey swap, has played for "Wild Bill" Donovan before. They were together with the Yanks in 1915.
